

Miss Virginia Hylan, daughter of the Mayor, sold War Savings Stamps in front of the Public Library. She is seen holding a Browning machine gun, the exhibit of which helped the sales.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Col. Roosevelt and some of the 250 men on the Liberty Loan committee who went to Sagamore Hill recently.
Copyright, International Film.

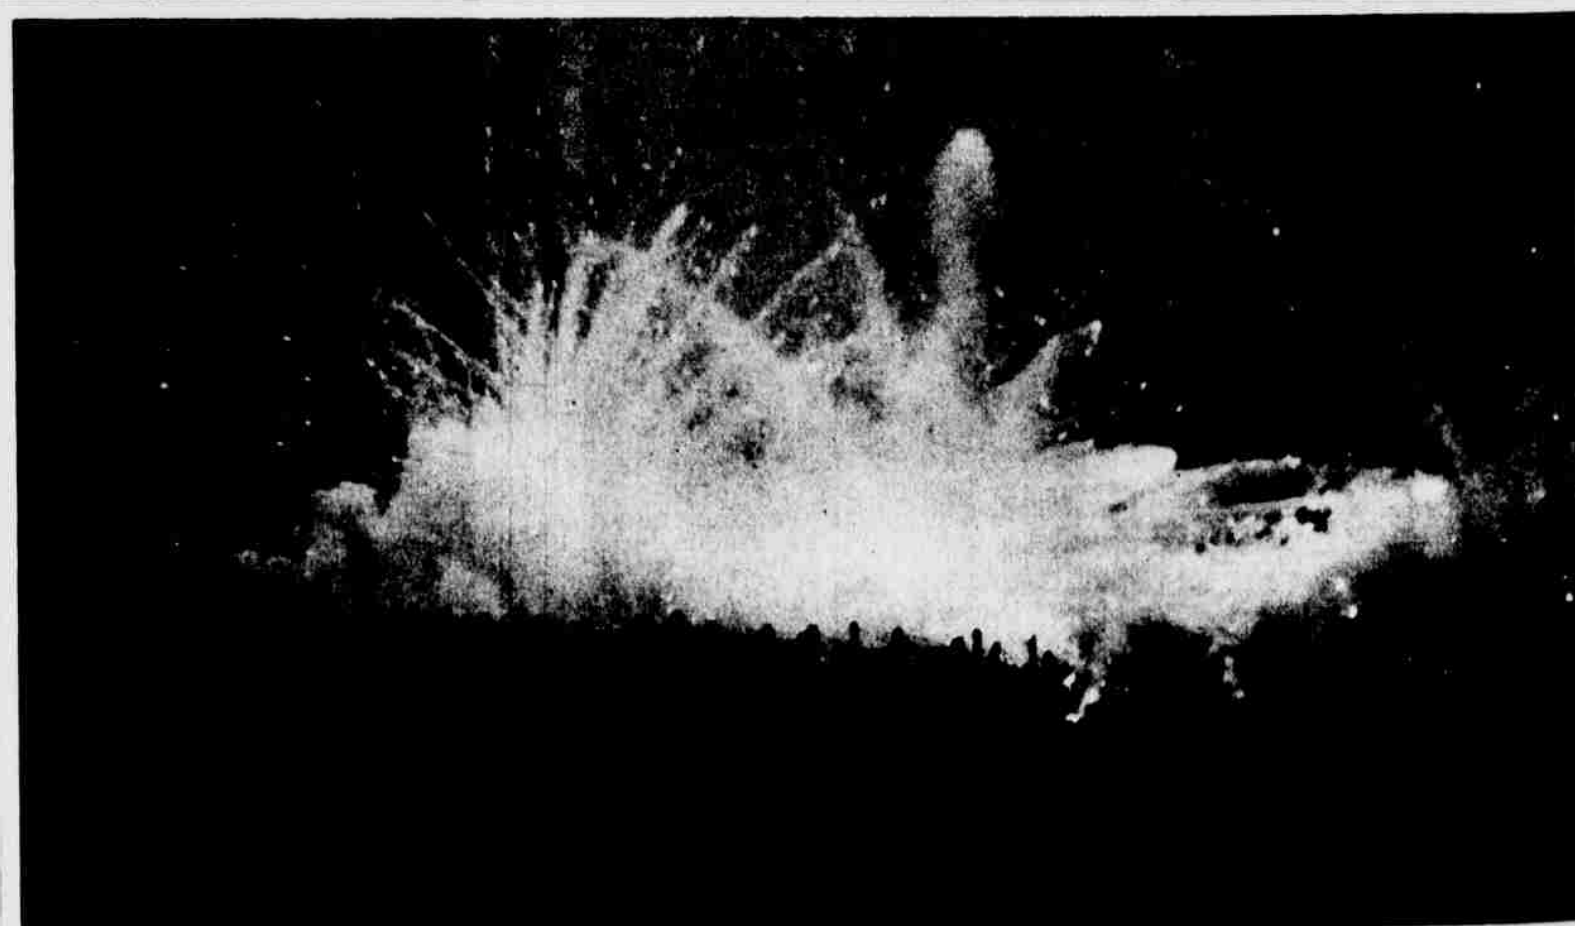

A Gotha airplane brought down recently by the French near Chateau-Thierry. One of the 250 horse-power motors is shown here.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

At last the six submarines built for Chile in this country have been allowed to leave for home. They recently put out from New London, Conn., convoyed by the mother ship Angamos. They were originally contracted for by Great Britain, but were sold to Chile because under our neutrality laws their delivery to a belligerent was not permissible.
Copyright, International Film.

Gen. Ferdinand Foch, Commander in Chief of the allied armies, and Gen. Pershing, America's leader in the field, photographed together at French headquarters. His smile indicates that Foch, an inflexible disciplinarian, has a decidedly human side. He is the idol of his men.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

This remarkable night photograph shows the wonderful pyrotechnic effects in the explosion of a big shell. It was fired by the Germans and burst in front of French trenches, so the camera man was able to take the picture without danger.
Copyright, Press Illustrating Service.